Preventive Care

UCSF Health - its providers and staff feel that preventive medicine plays an important part in your health and overall wellbeing. Simply based on your health history, age and sex, our records indicate that you may be due for one or more of the following screening or preventive procedures. Because everyone's health and medical history is unique, you should work with your primary care provider, either here at UCSF or in your community, to determine which of suggested items are best for you at this time.

Disclaimer

If you receive your primary care at UCSF or a UCSF affiliate and your Preventive Care summary indicates that you are overdue for suggested items that have already been done, it is likely that your provider doesn't have a copy of the completed item in your UCSF medical record. Please help us to obtain the information by messaging your UCSF primary care provider with when and where the care was provided.
